With the Adams County Photographic Exhibit for 1946 ready to open Friday at the Gettysburg National bank, announcement was made today by the Gettysburg Photographic Society, whose members judged the 112 amateur prints accepted for display, of the winners in the three divisions of the exhibit.

Earl A. Crouse, Gettysburg R. 1, won first place in the color photography section. No. 18 is the winning print.

Herbert G. Raab, Gettysburg R. 3, took first place in the small photos section with one of 11 prints he entered. Print No. 70 won.

Dr. W. R. Cadle, member of the staff at the Warner hospital, won first position in the large photo section with the only print he entered in the display, a close-up of surgeon's hand at work. It is No. 109.

The other winners in the three sections follow:

Color section—Second and two honorable mentions to Al Strohmeier, East Lincoln avenue, with Prints No. 85, 91 and 84, respectively.

Small Photo section—Second, John Parker, West Middle street, No. 59; second, Sgt. Robert L. Carter, York street, No. 10; Honorable Mention, Mrs. V. E. Ferrar, East Middle street, No. 29; and Herbert G. Raab, No. 71.

Ribbons Mark Winners

Winners in each section are marked with blue ribbons; second place photos with red ribbons while prints receiving honorable mention bear white ribbons.

The show which formally opens Friday evening will continue through Sunday, February 17.

In addition to regular banking hours, the exhibit will be open to the public 7:30 to 9:30 o'clock on Friday evenings and from 2 to 4:30 p. m. Sunday afternoons. The bank is open regularly until 2:30 p. m. each Saturday and again from 7 to 8:30 o'clock Saturday evenings.

CATHOLIC UNITS GET SUMS FROM KAAS ESTATE

The will of Miss Martha A. Kaas, late of Motters Station, Md., makes a number of bequests to Catholic churches and organizations in this area. The will was probated Tuesday in the Frederick county courts, at Frederick.

The Little Sisters of the Poor, Baltimore, are named as residuary legatees. No immediate valuation was placed on the estate.

The sum of $500 was bequeathed to St. Francis Xavier Catholic church here for the purpose of having low masses said for the repose of her soul. A similar bequest was made to St. Anthony's Catholic church at Mt. St. Mary's college and a $1,000 bequest for that purpose was made to St. Joseph's Catholic church, Emmitsburg.

Other Bequests

The sum of $180 is bequeathed to Mt. Carmel Catholic church at Thurmont, $90 of this sum to be for Gregorian masses and $90 for Novena masses for the repose of her soul.

St. Joseph's Catholic church at Emmitsburg also receives an outright bequest of $200 and $100 is bequeathed to the St. Anthony's Catholic school trust fund. St. Anthony's church is bequeathed $200 in trust, the income to be applied to the upkeep of the Kaas cemetery lot connected with the church.

There are $100 bequests each to a brother, Martin Joseph Kaas, Sr., and a sister, Mary E. Orndorff, wife of Frank H. Orndorff. The sum of $100 is bequeathed to a cousin, John Miller, Gettysburg, and the sum of $25 to John Orndorff, son of Frank H. Orndorff. Six chairs and a rocker to match are bequeathed to Marie Florence Keefe, Waynesboro, and a cane seated rocker to Theresa Ellen Keefe.

Any heirs who might contest the will are to receive $5 each, the testatrix directs. The residuary bequest to the Little Sisters of the Poor "for general purposes" is to be made after the estate has been converted into cash.

Reeves H. Blandford, Upper Marlboro, formerly of Emmitsburg, is appointed executor. The will is dated November 15, 1935.

Six County Vets Given Discharges

Among those discharged Wednesday from the army at Indiantown Gap were T/4 Francis M. Prato, 223 East King street, Littlestown; T/Sgt. Lloyd G. Hoff, Hampton; S/Sgt. Philip T. Beamer, Biglerville; Cpl. Ray S. Dutery, East Berlin R. 1; Sgt. Russell J. Baker, Fairfield, and S/Sgt. John D. Sherman, West High street, New Oxford.

Sgt. William F. Krepps, 120 Second street, McSherrystown, has been discharged at Camp Atterbury, Ind.

SAYS CHURCHES SHOULD REVEAL MORE INTEREST

It is the duty of church people to "practice Christianity" by inviting "uprooted Americans" to the churches and giving them the fellowship they need, Mrs. L. P. Greenawalt, Harrisburg, declared Wednesday night in the third and last of a series of talks presented by the Gettysburg Council of Church Women at the Methodist church.

Mrs. Greenawalt, head of the Youth Movement of the Central Pennsylvania Conference of the church, said that there are 38,000,000 Americans who have left their home communities during the past six years, including those called to the armed forces and those who took wartime production jobs.

Because they became "uprooted Americans," according to Mrs. Greenawalt, they lost contact with home ties and as a result it is up to the churches to prepare a program to invite them to churches and establish fellowship with them if they are not to lose, in many instances, all connection with religious and moral organizations.

Says Lose Church Interest

A census taken recently showed that among a large number who had left their homes for other cities at the end of a year, 80 per cent still maintained an active church interest; at the end of two years the number still interested in the church was 40 per cent and at the end of three years the percentage dropped to 20 per cent.

There has been an increase in juvenile delinquency through both parents working and allowing their youngsters to roam at will, Mrs. Greenawalt said, holding that it was the church people's duty as Christians to prepare programs to help those people.

In many instances, she pointed out, the established residents of communities have ignored the newcomers and have made no effort to try to establish them in the community, and thus have failed in their practice of Christianity.

Cites Race Prejudice

Failures in inter-racial relationships also are caused by church goers failing in their practice of Christianity, she added. Establishment of vacation schools for holding inter-racial meetings and establishment of a race relation program in each community were suggested by the speaker as remedies for the anti-Christian attitude adopted by some against other races. That the race problem is increasing is caused in some instances by organized groups who are stirring up hatreds, she said. There are 800 propaganda organizations in the U. S. at present stirring up anti-semitic feeling, she claimed.

The solution to all race problems and other problems facing the U. S. is "to begin practicing Christianity where we live," she concluded.

The Rev. Floyd A. Carroll, pastor of the local Methodist church conducted the service. Next activity of the Gettysburg church women's council will be the World Day of Prayer program to be held March 8, it was announced.

"Y" Opens Annual Finance Campaign

The annual financial campaign of the local Y.W.C.A. officially opens at 3 o'clock this afternoon with a tea in charge of the Membership committee, Mrs. Ralph R. Gresh, chairman. All solicitors and board members were invited. Mrs. Frank H. Kramer, captain of the workers, will pour.

Other members of the committee assisting are Mrs. L. C. Keefeauver, Mrs. Charles W. Ogden, Miss Maude Whiteleather, Mrs. Harold Pegg, Mrs. Abdel Ross Wentz, president of the "Y," will give an inspirational message and instructions for the campaign will be given by Mrs. Guyon E. Buehler, finance chairman.

Other members of the Finance committee working on the campaign are Mrs. Eva Pape, Mrs. Howard S. Fox and Mrs. Paul Thomas. The goal is $2,200 to cover running expenses of the organization.

Told Profits Cut By Equipment Cost

Many breeders are spending too much for housing and equipment to realize a fair profit on their swine, L. C. Madison, State College Swine feed and management specialist told county farmers at two meetings Tuesday.

The demonstrations on swine management were held at the farms of A. B. C. Williams, York Springs, and G. Roscoe Worley, Hanover R. 4, under the sponsorship of the county agricultural extension association.

WILL DISCUSS JAIL LOCATION

The pros and cons of the jail site controversy will come in for discussion Friday morning when the Adams county commissioners meet with opponents of the present site.

Scheduled for 10 o'clock Friday morning in the commissioners' offices in the court house the hearing will be held for a representative committee of the petitioners from the north end of town who recently filed protest against the proposed site for the jail and a committee from the Chamber of Commerce.

The commissioners, in announcing this morning plans for the discussion on the question said that so far only two official protests have been received—from the Chamber of Commerce and from the residents of the north end. A number of other organizations have protested the site but have not as yet formally presented their resolutions to the commissioners.

Present plans call for construction by the county of a new jail along the Carlisle road on the county farm property. Those opposing the site claim that it will prevent development of the town northward.

BOIES PENROSE

Recollections of the 1920 Republican National Convention and events leading up to the Harding nomination.

By LEIGHTON C. TAYLOR
Secretary to the Late Senator Boies Penrose

Coming back to the events leading up to the Harding nomination at the 1920 Republican National Convention in Chicago, only a few weeks after Penrose's talk with Senator Harding, concerning the latter's wishes respecting the presidency. Senator Penrose was stricken with an illness that in the end proved fatal, but through the ravages of which he lived more than two years. He continued to function as the undisputed leader of the Republican organization, both locally and nationally, as well as Pennsylvania's senior United States Senator.

In the fall of 1919 his always robust health, almost without warning, failed him. At first he wasn't unduly disturbed by his condition. He had been working long hours, day and night, on the pending tariff bill, and concluded he had overworked and that a period of rest was all he needed. Believing he would enjoy more peace and quiet at his home in Philadelphia he went over there from Washington to recuperate. Instead of showing any improvement, however, he gradually grew worse, not with any particular ailment but just a general breakdown—something like the collapse of Holmes' One-hoss Shay. The best doctors and nurses were employed, and their efforts not meeting with much success it was recommended that we take Senator Penrose to Florida for the winter.

Two Others Seriously Hurt In Collision On Lincoln Highway East At 2:40 This Morning

Two veterans of overseas duty in World War II and a young Marine sergeant about to be discharged after Pacific duty were fatally injured early this morning when the car in which they were riding veered into the path of another car two miles east of here on the Lincoln highway and was demolished.

A companion, home on re-enlistment leave in the Army, is in a critical condition in the Warner hospital while the driver of the other car is a hospital patient in a serious condition. State police said two of the three cars involved in the double crash are worthless and estimated the total loss at $2,100.

The dead:

Marine Sgt. John Dale Kuhn, 21, Cashtown, veteran of Pacific campaigns who arrived home late Wednesday afternoon on leave and expected his discharge in two weeks after nearly three years of service.

Joseph Francis Slonaker, 22, 42 Breckenridge street, former army staff sergeant who was discharged last October after two and a half years with the Signal Corps here and in Europe.

Russell Knight Bumbaugh, 22, Gettysburg R. 5, discharged veteran of 15 naval engagements in the Atlantic and Pacific.

All three were former members of the class of 1942 at Gettysburg high school and all entered service soon after ending their studies.

Spahr Critical

Critically hurt is Corporal Robert Spahr, 22, 168 York street, who flew "the hump" from India to China during the war with the Air Transport Command and now is home on re-enlistment furlough. He is semi-conscious in the hospital suffering from cerebral concussion, possible fracture of the skull and multiple abrasions and contusions.

Norton Louis Redding, 31, 58 East Stevens street, who was riding alone in the car which collided with the Kuhn machine, is in a serious condition at the hospital. His injuries include mild concussion, lacerations of the lower lip and a fracture of the lower jaw.

Only Witness

Sgt. Paul Bowers, 22, Gettysburg R. 1, on convalescent leave from Fletcher General hospital at Cambridge, O., after being wounded in action with the First Division and driver of the third car involved, escaped injury and gave state police their only first-hand account of the tragedy.

The triple-fatality is being investigated by Dr. C. G. Crist, county coroner, and Private George J. Evanko of the Gettysburg detail of the state police, both of whom went to the scene to begin their probes. The crash occurred at 2:40 a. m. State police remained on guard until dawn at the scene to protect traffic.

Private Evanko's investigation showed that the Kuhn car was going east—with the identity of the driver yet unknown—when for some uncertain reason it veered sharply across the three-lane highway and directly into the path of Norton Redding's car. The front of the Redding car hit the right side of the Kuhn machine, smashing both cars. The four occupants of the Kuhn machine were lying in a heap on the rear seat.

Redding's Speed 45 Mph.

Kuhn and Slonaker were dead when they were removed from the wreckage. Bumbaugh died shortly before 9 o'clock in the hospital without regaining consciousness.

Redding was driving toward Gettysburg, returning from work at the Blaw-Knox plant in York. The occupants of the Kuhn car were said to have been bound for Bumbaugh's home, a half mile east of the scene, Sergeant Bowers, the third driver, was en route to his home after spending the evening at the home of a friend.

Bowers told Private Evanko Redding was driving about 45 miles an hour when the Kuhn car swerved across the road and they crashed in front of him. Parts flew and something struck Bowers' car. His right front fender was found hanging on the rear bumper of the Kuhn machine.

What caused the Kuhn machine to swerve across the road today remained undetermined. Three hundred feet west of the point of collision was an icy spot on the road. The right rear tire of the Kuhn car was flat after the crash and investigators said both or either factor may have contributed to the crash.

Discharged In October

The cars collided directly in front of the residence of John Bowers. Joseph Slonaker is a son of Frank J. and Anna L. (Keefe) Slonaker and was born in Gettysburg. He has been employed by the United Telephone company here since receiving his army discharge last October 27. Slonaker enlisted in the Signal Corps Reserve at Harrisburg in 1942 and was called to active duty in April, 1943. He took his basic training at Camp Crowder, Mo., and went overseas in September, 1943, serving as a staff sergeant in the 147th Signal Unit, attached to the 9th Air Force. He wore four battle stars for service in France, Luxembourg, Belgium, Holland, and Germany.

He attended the Gettysburg Parochial school and was a former carrier for The Gettysburg Times. He was graduated from Gettysburg high school in 1942.

He was a member of the St. Francis Xavier Catholic church, the Lentz post of the American Legion, the board of trustees of the local post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Gettysburg lodges of the Eagles and Moose.

Surviving are his parents; paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George G. Slonaker, Gettysburg, and these sisters: Nancy, Teresa and Joan, all at home.

Funeral services Saturday morning meeting at the Bender funeral home at 8:30 o'clock with a requiem mass at 9 o'clock in St. Francis Xavier church with the rector, the Rev. Fr. Mark E. Stock, officiating. Interment in St. Mary's cemetery at McSherrystown.

Friends may call Friday evening after 7 o'clock at the funeral home.

Had 15 Battle Stars

Bumbaugh was born in Gettysburg, a son of Clarence E. and Marian E. (Craig) Bumbaugh. He attended school in Philadelphia, Clear Valley, Round Top school and was a member of the graduating class at Gettysburg high school when he enlisted December 21, 1941, in York.

He was called to duty January 5, 1942, and took six weeks of basic training at Newport, R. I., from where he was sent to the Great Lake Naval Training Station for 10 weeks at the gunnery school. He was assigned to the Tuscaloosa, a heavy cruiser, in May, 1942 and went on duty at that time in the Atlantic, during which he docked in Russia and England. The young sailor took part in the invasion of Casablanca, Africa, and after 10 months of duty was sent to Orange, Texas.

Later he was transferred to the USS John Rogers, a destroyer, and served in the Pacific until discharged December 12, 1945. He attained the rank of gunner, second (Please turn to Page 2)

BELGIAN SPIRIT SYMBOLIZED IN WORK OF HERO

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Brussels, Feb. 7 — This is a very personal column, but I want you to meet my old friend Ernest Marechal, one of Belgium's heroes, who magnificently symbolizes the Allied spirit of freedom, justice and righteousness for which he has stood so uncompromisingly at the risk of his own life through two World Wars.

I regard Marechal with deepest affection, for at the end of World War One he rescued me here in Brussels from what, to put it mildly, was a most trying predicament. At the time I was in Brussels, before the armistice, Marechal hid me in his home.

I hadn't seen him since that time — 28 long years — but one of the first things Mrs. Mack and I did on arriving in the capital was to call on Marechal and his wife and daughter in their home.

Back in the last conflict Marechal many times dared death to cross the German lines into France from occupied Belgium in missions for his government, in which he was a cabinet minister. A citation signed by the late King Albert himself described in detail Marechal's vast heroism, and he wears a high decoration for his service to King and country.

Buried Death Warrant

That citation is badly stained with dampness, for Marechal buried it in his garden when the Germans occupied Brussels again in the war. It would have been his death warrant if they had discovered it.

In the present war Marechal has had a son serving as a major in the British Royal Air Force. Another lies in a Czechoslovakian grave where the Germans buried him after they had killed him by starvation and other inhuman treatment. Still, the Marechals aren't vindictive. Tears come to their eyes, but they look on the sacrifices as part of their contribution to the welfare of the country and their fellow men.

As Mrs. Mack and I were about to leave the Marechal home yesterday I asked him if he was hopeful for the future of Belgium. His eyes shone as he nodded. He has a faith that would move mountains, has Marechal.

"Yes," he said, "Belgium will come through even better than she did after the last war, because our economy is better planned these days than it was then."

SCS STAFFMEN END MEETINGS

Methods of increasing the information and education activities of the Soil Conservation Service were discussed this morning in the concluding sessions of the annual conference being held here by the Pennsylvania personnel of the SCS.

Harold Jenkins, chief of the Regional Division, Upper Darby, led the panel discussion that occupied the 50 men present throughout the morning. The sessions at the Hotel Gettysburg began on Monday.

Wednesday evening the group viewed motion pictures depicting soil erosion control and conservation practices being presented by a number of commercial firms in order to discuss the cooperation given by oil and other concerns to the soil conservation program.

During Wednesday's sessions Clyde V. Zehner, Harrisburg, state director of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, addressed the group on "Conservation Activities of the Production and Marketing Administration," in which he outlined the help that can be given by the various organizations in assisting the farmer in proper farm conservation programming.

V. A. Martin, Harrisburg, assistant chief of Vocational Agricultural Education, of the State Department of Education, spoke on the share of the vocational agricultural teachers in the schools in conservation education. J. C. Dykes, assistant chief of the Soil Conservation Service, Washington, addressed the group on the "huge job that lies ahead to accomplish the soil conservation program."

SGT. DICKSON HOME

Sgt. Harrison McCrea Dickson, son of Mrs. J. McCrea Dickson, West Broadway, arrived home Tuesday after receiving his discharge from the 309th Medical Battalion of the 84th Infantry division of the army. He had been in the service thirty-three months, sixteen of which were spent in the European Theatre of War. He is planning to resume his studies at Gettysburg college later in the year.

DEATH

William L. Busbey

William Lewis Busbey, 79, 364 North street, McSherrystown, a retired cigar manufacturer, died at the Warner hospital Wednesday evening at 7:45 o'clock from the effects of a broken hip received in a fall January 15. He had been a patient at the hospital since that time.

The deceased was a son of the late John and Caroline (Hamback) Busbey. He was a member of the Holy Name society of St. Mary's Catholic church, McSherrystown.

Surviving are his widow, the former Mary Ann Hartlaub; two sons, William Guy and Preston Lee, both of Hanover; one adopted daughter, Miss Mary Busbey, at home; one sister, Mrs. Victoria Poist, McSherrystown; 13 grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Funeral services from the late home Saturday morning at 8:30 o'clock with mass at 9 o'clock at St. Mary's Catholic church conducted by the Rev. P. F. McGee. Interment in the church cemetery. Friends may call at the late home Friday evening from 7 to 9 o'clock.

TRINITY BOARD HEARS REPORTS

The Board of Trinity Evangelical and Reformed Church School met at the home of Mrs. C. Robert Dardorf, Chambersburg street, on Wednesday night. Pre-Lenten devotions were conducted by Mrs. Guyon E. Buehler, superintendent. Mrs. Dardorf reported that the attendance campaign being conducted in the Primary Department had been concluded with a number of the pupils having had perfect attendance. Mrs. Clyde Spangler was appointed to the teaching staff in that department. Miss Myrtle Sheely, superintendent of the Intermediate Department, announced that her department was selling blueing paddles to secure money for the Building Fund.

Clyde Spangler, superintendent of the Young Adults Department, reported that people in that age group in the church and some in the town with no church affiliation were being invited to a Valentine Party February 15. John D. Eckert, adult superintendent, reported increased attendance and interest in that department. Miss Alice Snyder, stewardship superintendent, said renewals in the Fellowship of Compassion are being sought from now until March.

Contribute to Relief

Approximately 125 people in the church and school contributed monthly during the past year for the use of suffering peoples in other countries and it is hoped that at least 150 will be on the roll during the coming year. The group discussed the matter of sponsoring a missionary worker in another country and further study will be given to this matter. A contribution of $2.50 to the YWCA financial campaign was approved and the group voted to pay the $25 dues to the First District of the Adams County Council of Christian Education. The annual offering for the use of the local colored church will be received on February 17th.

The board considered the matter of sending more pupils to camp this summer and a committee consisting of E. J. Yoder, Mrs. Robert Snyder, Ray J. Kitzmiller and Miss Frances Gilbert was appointed to study the matter and make recommendations at the next meeting. The next meeting will be held on March 6th, following Lenten services. The hostess served refreshments at the social hour which followed the meeting.

Edgar Leer House Damaged By Fire

The two-story brick home of Edgar Leer, occupied by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Addison Leer, and located on State street, the Harrisburg road, at the northern edge of York Springs, was damaged by fire Tuesday afternoon. There was no estimate of the loss, which was covered by insurance.

The chimney at the Leer home formerly the home of Amos Busbey, caught fire Tuesday morning. Members of the family believed they had succeeded in extinguishing it. Tuesday afternoon at about 12:15 o'clock, fire was discovered in the attic of the home. The York Springs fire company was called out and laid a hose line from a fire hydrant. The flames were confined to the attic of the house but considerable damage was done by water on the first and second floors.

Staff Of College Paper At Banquet

Dr. Henry W. A. Hanson, president of Gettysburg college, and Dr. W. E. Tilberg, dean of the college, were speakers Wednesday evening at the annual banquet of "The Gettysburgian," college weekly publication.

Gerard H. Borsiel was introduced as the new editor of the paper at the banquet held in the Hotel Gettysburg. He succeeds Esther H. Kenyon to the post.

Session Of Court Lasts 60 Seconds

A one-minute session of court was held this morning with the Adams county court convening at 10:40 o'clock and adjourning at 10:41.

The court had planned to hear the case of George R. Lindsay, Hagerstown, against Maxine Stewart, Gettysburg. The bill in equity began in August court when Lindsay charged he had established the Gettysburg Bowling center with Miss Stewart as manager and that since that time he has received no accounting as to profits or loss by the center.

Attorneys Richard A. Brown for Miss Stewart and J. Francis Yake, Jr., for Lindsay met with the principals to discuss a possible settlement while the court waited. After convening, the court announced that the case had been continued.

The court's next session will be in chambers, Saturday morning at 11 o'clock while the next open session of court will be held Monday morning.

COMMITTEE TO MEET

The program committee for the talk by Dr. Earl B. Harrison at the Majestic theater February 24, under the sponsorship of the Gettysburg Laymen's League, will meet in the Hotel Gettysburg lobby at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening to complete arrangements. George W. Naugle, chairman, announced.

HOSPITAL REPORT

Patients admitted to the Warner hospital include Mervin Scott; Mrs. Charles Redding, Gettysburg R. 3; Mrs. Dilley Eyer, Emmitsburg; Mrs. Conrad Bless, East Berlin; Mrs. Chester Smith, Red Lion, and Harry S. Trostle, 783 Baltimore street. Mrs. Edgar Hamilton, Water street, has been discharged.

BIRTH ANNOUNCEMENTS

Sons were born at the Warner hospital this morning to Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Bless, East Berlin, and Mr. and Mrs. Dilley Eyer, Emmitsburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Smith, Red Lion, announce the birth of a daughter this morning at the hospital.

Christie In Charge Of Forestry Office

The Farm Forestry office in the Murphy building is managed by Arthur H. Christie, who is in charge of the farm forestry work in both Adams and Cumberland counties.

It was incorrectly stated in Tuesday's edition of The Gettysburg Times that the farm forestry office might close with the departure of D. E. Hess from the Soil Conservation service. Mr. Hess was in charge of both farm forestry and soil conservation work here until July 1, 1945, when the U. S. Forest service took over the Farm Forestry program that had previously been administered by the U. S. Soil Conservation service. After that date, a separate farm-forester was appointed and both used the same office in the Murphy building.

The continuance of soil erosion control work that Mr. Hess has been doing as the local representative of the U. S. Soil Conservation service will, however, depend on whether the farmers and fruit growers of the county organize a soil conservation district.

Overseas 15 Months

Sergeant Kuhn was home on a 36-hour leave from Bainbridge, Md., arriving at his Cashtown home at 5:30 p. m. Wednesday. He expected to receive his discharge before the end of the month.

Kuhn enlisted in the Marines at Harrisburg March 2, 1943, and took boot training at Parris Island, S. C., going from there to Cherry Point, N. C.; Memphis and San Diego. He was overseas 15 months and earned two battle stars for service on Saipan, Guam, Hawaii and the Marshall Islands. He served with aviation ordnance and returned to the states last April. He had been stationed in California until a week ago.

A son of Charles E. and Mary E. (Mickley) Kuhn, Cashtown, the deceased was born in that town and attended Gettysburg high school as a member of the class of 1942. He studied for one semester at the University of Illinois specializing in physical education.

He was a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars post here and of the Reformed church at Cashtown.

Besides his parents and his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Ida Mickley of Cashtown, Kuhn is survived by these brothers and sisters: William, Gettysburg; Donald, Cashtown; Richard, at home; Kenneth, Cashtown; Floyd, home; Mrs. Charles Fellman, Cashtown, and Mrs. Arthur Phiel, Jr., Gettysburg.

Funeral services from the Kuhn home in Cashtown Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock with the Rev. John Ehrhart, his pastor, officiating. Interment in Flohr's church cemetery. Friends may call at the home Friday evening from 7 to 9 o'clock.

Lafayette	2	1	.667
Gettysburg	3	2	.600
Lehigh	1	5	.167
Bucknell	1	5	.167

Saturday's Game
Gettysburg at Bucknell.

Local fans who had any skepticism that the Muhlenberg college jayvees were not justly called the cream of Pennsylvania collegiate teams had that thought removed here Wednesday evening when the Mules handed the Gettysburg college Bullets a 67-44 lacing before a capacity crowd of over 1,200 fans.

Muhlenberg went out in front in the first half minute of play and never headed. The Bullets twice got to within two points of their opponents in the first period but thereafter the invaders enjoyed a comfortable margin at all times.

The Mules exhibited everything it takes to make a great combination, height, speed, poise, accuracy and smooth ball-handling. They had all the ear-marks of a professional team but it must be said for the locals they were off somewhat in their shooting and have played better games this year.

Height Hurts

Averaging well over six feet and with several players in the line-up reaching the six-foot five-inch mark, Muhlenberg found it comparatively easy to control the ball under the hoops and time and again secured as many as five shots, if needed, to register a close shot.

Combs proved the dead-eye for the Mules by racking up 10 goals and a trio of fouls. Gettysburg's leading point-getter was Welliver who notched 11 with Plank a close second with 10.

H. Denovan tallied about a half minute after the game opened on a short chuck and Combs followed with a one-hander before Howard netted a short toss. The Mules started to move ahead but long goals by Plank and Welliver cut their lead to 11-9 after seven minutes in the first quarter, which was the closest the Bullets got to their rivals. At the quarter Muhlenberg led 16-9.

Mules Run Wild

The visitors went on a scoring rampage in the second period which removed whatever doubt there was as to the outcome and at half time led 37-21.

"Hen" Bream's outfit played improved ball in the third period and managed to outscore their rivals but still trailed 47-33 going into the final frame.

The last period was a repetition of the second with the Mules easily outclassing the scrappy Bullets.

For the Mules it marked their 15th victory in 16 starts, their only loss of the season being to Temple.

2nd Bullet Loss

The defeat was but the second in 11 starts for the Bream-men.

As a result of the victory Muhlenberg holds a tight grip on first place in the northern division of the Middle Atlantic conference and if Wednesday's performance is any criterion they should have little trouble in gaining title honors.

For the edification of local fans it might be pointed out that four of the Muhlenberg starters Wednesday evening are freshmen while Baldwin is a junior.

BOXING BOOM GOING STRONG

New York, Feb. 7 (AP)—The way things are going, the boxing boom this year may exceed the fondest hopes of promoters.

An Associated Press survey showed today gross receipts are above the comparable period in 1945. Indicative of the trend are the sell-outs reported in many of the smaller clubs throughout the country.

With Promoter Mike Jacobs' announcement that a $140,000 gross is virtually assured for tomorrow night's scrap between Beau Jack and Johnny Greco, six shows in Madison Square Garden will have drawn $512,000. This compares with

BULLET SCRUBS DOWN SQUIRES

Jake Dracha's Delone Catholic high cagers gave the Gettysburg college jayvees a battle the whole way before bowing 34-26 in the preliminary to the Muhlenberg-college varsity affair Wednesday evening.

The Junior Bullets led the whole way but the fighting Squires put on a nice rally in the final period which threatened to pull the game from the fire.

Going into the final frame Delone trailed 26-20. The lead was reduced to 26-23 on a goal and foul by H. Noel. Rambo retaliated with a one-hander. Overbaugh dribbled underneath the hoop for a tally and H. Noel added a foul with five minutes of play remaining. Allison and Rambo teamed up for scores to clinch the decision for the Bullets.

Rider played an especially good game under the boards for the Squires who found the height advantage of the collegians too much of a handicap.

$365,046 for the first six Garden shows of 1945, a record year.

With the big outdoor shows, including the Joe Louis-Billy Conn heavyweight title bout in June, still to come, it seems certain that the $13,000,000 gross reported by 32 states for 1945, will be exceeded this year.

Topped by the Garden turnout of 18,907 who paid $108,974 for the Rocky Graziano-Sonny Home bout on January 18, the sock game is humming overtime in New York city. Sell-outs are the rule at the small clubs, such as St. Nick's, the Park Arena and the Broadway Arena.

Lansing, Mich., Feb. 7 (AP)—The greatest concentration of midwestern track and field stars since pre-war days will compete in the 24th running of the Michigan State college relays here Saturday.

Ten midwestern colleges have entered 326 men, including full teams from Michigan State, Notre Dame, University of Michigan and Ohio State.

QUATRAINS

Riches
There are riches of the mind,
And of faithful friends and old,
But the cheapest of all kind
Are of silver and of gold.

Memory
It happened at a needed time;
He gave a little boy a dime
And went his way, and never knew
He'd given a lifetime's memory, too.

A Friend
A friend is one until you die
You're very sure is standing by
And will be always glad to share
Whatever burdens you must bear.

The man I hope to make of me
It seems I never grow to be.
Far off, no matter how I try,
Remains that so much better I.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS
WHY FIRST EDITIONS

For many years I have been a modest collector of first editions of books that have been especially interested in me. There was a time when I smiled at first edition collectors. I do it no more. I crave their association. You learn something new from them all.

I wrote to an old-time friend of mine and told her of my beautiful collection of first edition books and asked her to come and see them. Her reply was: "I thought books were to be read." Well, great books are to be read, and should be, but when they are great books, they are also to be loved.

Hilaire Belloc once said that after he had read a great book in its first edition, all other editions were spoiled for him. I can understand. A first edition, especially of a really good book, represents so much of the dreams, the struggles, and the anticipation of the author. Often it has meant his hunger in its creation. Imagine his joy at the first handling of his book, fresh from the press. Often he has had to borrow the money with which to have it printed!

George Gissing had to borrow money to get his first book, "The Workers in the Dawn," into print. No publisher would take the risk. Stephen Crane had to do the same when he had his "Maggie, a Girl of the Streets," published. And so few people were interested that only a few hundred copies of each were ever sold. Today a first edition of either is readily sold at auction for a large sum. The latter brought $3,700 at one sale. Today the first small books of Poe would bring their weight in diamonds! They are handled as though made of gold leaf. Only about half a dozen copies of Poe's rarest book are in existence. Imagine his disappointment at no buyers for his first efforts.

There is something of the soul of an author in the first edition of his books, and especially of his first book. It's like the first-born child to a mother.

Not only is it a fascinating hunt for first editions, but it is a joy to read them, when discovered. How I would like to read "Pilgrim's Progress" or the "Meditations of Marcus Aurelius" in their really first editions!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Common Deeds"

MOSCONI LEADS

Wilmington, Del., Feb. 7 (AP)—Willie Mosconi, Barrington, N. J., world's pocket billiards champion, held a 114-point lead over challenger Jimmy Caras, Wilmington, today as the two cue stars entered the fourth day of their intercontinental match. Mosconi, who won four of six 125-point blocks in three days of play in Philadelphia, led Caras 633 to 519.

Out Of The Past

From the Files of the Star and Sentinel and

The Gettysburg Times

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Miss Marie Guise Wedded Wednesday: Earl Ericson, of Harrisburg, and Miss Marie Guise, of Gettysburg, were united in marriage Wednesday evening at 6:30 o'clock by Rev. George W. Hull at his residence, East Berlin, Route 1.

Borough Loses Suit Involving Street Paving: Edward D. Hudson, veterinary, one of the 22 Hanover street property owners, won his case brought by the borough of Gettysburg in court Wednesday afternoon. The jury, after deliberating two hours, returned a verdict in favor of the defendant, who was one of 22 property owners on Hanover street, who has refused to pay his street paving assessment. While Mr. Hudson was personally thanking each member of the jury for the verdict Attorney J. Donald Swope, borough solicitor, filed motion for a new trial.

Adams County Farm Bureau to Incorporate: The Adams County Farm Bureau will be incorporated under the laws of Pennsylvania, if a committee, appointed at a meeting held on Monday, submits a favorable report. The committee appointed to proceed with plans comprises W. B. Gernet, of Biglerville; George E. Smick, of York Springs, and M. F. Stoner, Fairfield.

Constitution and by-laws will be drafted by the following committee: J. T. Fogle, Gettysburg; A. B. C. Williams, York Springs; F. A. Waybright, Gettysburg, and A. D. Sheely, Arendtsville.

The officers are: President, John B. Peters; vice president, S. L. Hoke; secretary, W. B. Gernet; treasurer, H. F. Stambaugh.

Local Couple Is Wedded Saturday: Miss Grace Livelsberger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Livelsberger, Gettysburg, and Robert Kitzmiller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Kitzmiller, Gettysburg, were married Saturday evening at 9 o'clock at St. Francis Xavier rectory by the Rev. Father Mark E. Stock. They were attended by Miss Thelma Livelsberger and Cletus Livelsberger.

County Woman First Called on Petit Jury: Enter the woman juror! For the first time in the legal history of Adams county, a woman sits as a member of a petit jury. The honor of being the first woman juror in the history of Adams county goes to Fannie Donaldson, Hamiltonban township, whose occupation is listed as housewife.

Because of Mrs. Donaldson's presence on the jury, the form of address of the jurors has been changed from "gentlemen of the jury" to "members of the jury."

Mitchell's Army Career Is Ended: Washington, Feb. 1.—The army career of William Mitchell ended today.

It was brought to a conclusion by a formal notification from the war department that his resignation from the army had been accepted by direction of President Coolidge.

The acceptance automatically cancelled the suspension of five years suspension from rank.

Large Audience Enjoys "Bimbo," Legion Comedy: Playing to an audience which filled every seat in the Majestic Theatre, home talent entertainingly presented "Bimbo," a musical extravaganza, under the auspices of the Albert J. Lentz post of the American Legion.

A solo dance between acts by Miss Elizabeth Stallsmith was perhaps the hit of the evening. Miss Anna Sefton and Henry Meyer had the titular singing roles.

The "Toddle Town" number led by Miss Ruth Beard was a pleasing one. The house was figuratively "brought down" by the specialty drill of the Bimbo army, featuring "Whitey" Woodward, "Monk" Menchey, "Papple" Swope, "Zeke" Collins, "Steamer" Stanley, "Fats" Peters and "Shady" Shader.

Others in the cast were Fred Pfeffer, Anna Geiselman, Ellen Tip-ton, Mary Ramer, Murray Miller and Wimberty Neely.

Dr. Hanson to Speak in West: Dr. Henry W. A. Hanson will deliver the closing address at the Second Christian Conference to be held at Augustana college, Rock Island, Illinois, February 11 to 14.

Organ Recital at St. James: J. Herbert Springer gave a recital on the new organ at St. James Lutheran church Tuesday evening. The St. James organ is considered one of the best church organs in the state.

Miss Eleanor King Returns to Convent: Miss Eleanor King, East Middle street, has returned to the Convent of Mercy, Harrisburg, to resume her studies there, after having spent several months here recuperating from a serious illness.

Personal: Edgar A. Moser, Baltimore street, has received a commission from Governor Pinchot to serve as a notary public.

Miss Esther R. Hoover has returned to her home in Chambersburg after spending some time with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur P. Phiel, Baltimore street.

Mr. and Mrs. Gomer Sharpe,

VETERANS FORM AIRLINE CO-OP; SEEK APPROVAL

Philadelphia, Feb. 7 (AP)—A group of World War II flyers, willing to work for as little as $25 a week until their airline company "builds up a financial surplus," today sought Civil Aeronautics Board approval to operate routes covering 1,728 miles in New Jersey, New York, Maryland, Pennsylvania and the District of Columbia.

Robert G. Averill, of Springfield, Mass., told newsmen the Norseman Air Transport, Inc.—tenth airline to petition CAB at Middle Atlantic hearings for charters aimed at expanding postwar aviation—"is entirely a cooperative, profit-sharing organization and its membership consists entirely of World War II veterans."

In testimony yesterday before Charles Frederick, chief CAB examiner, Averill asserted employees of the company "have agreed to work for approximately one-third of what other airlines pay until such time as we can build up a financial surplus."

Routes Outlined

Norseman would use converted C-47 planes to fly passengers on routes that would make stops at New York city, Bethlehem, Reading, York, Erie, Pittsburgh, Oil City, Uniontown, Harrisburg, Johnstown, Altoona, Williamsport, Wilkes-Barre, Scranton and Philadelphia in Pennsylvania; Middletown, Binghamton, Elmira, Olean and Jamestown in New York; Asbury Park and Atlantic City, N. J.; Hagerstown and Baltimore, Md.; Wilmington, Del., and Washington, D. C.

Cotes Lear, attorney for the company which in December, 1942 asked CAB certification of 14 passenger routes in the New England area, said in an interview that all veterans who tie up with Norseman become stockholders automatically because "they are required to subscribe a minimum of $100 or maximum of $10,000."

Lear said if CAB approves the application filed in 1942 it would withdraw the one filed yesterday.

28th Division Vets Are Organizing

Philadelphia, Feb. 7 (AP)—An independent veterans organization, formed by Pennsylvania World War II veterans of the 28th "Keystone" Division, plans to "exercise a voice—a voice of men who fought for the rights of free men—in the affairs of Philadelphia and our state," says John Keown, chairman of the group's executive committee.

Keown, who claims 30,000 members—mostly Pennsylvanians, said the first chapter was created in Philadelphia. Others will be formed in Chester, Norristown, Lancaster, Reading, Scranton, Wilkes-Barre, Harrisburg, Pittsburgh and Erie, he asserted.

Keown insisted the association is not "a political organization."

LOUISVILLE RETIRED

Philadelphia, Feb. 7 (AP)—The heavy cruiser Louisville docked today at the Philadelphia navy base to be retired to the inactive fleet.

North Stratton street, entertained a number of friends at a "taffy pull" on Tuesday evening.

Mrs. J. I. Burgoon, Springs avenue, was "at home" Thursday and Friday afternoons.

Miss Esther Hartman, West Middle street, is spending the week-end in Cashtown.

Mrs. Jonas Robert, of Hanover, is spending some time with Mrs. James Weyandt.

Miss Beatrice Minter, East Middle street, has gone to Harrisburg, where she will go in training as a nurse at the Harrisburg hospital.

FRANKLIN VOTES $50,000 TO AID STRIKE FAMILIES

Pittsburgh, Feb. 7 (AP) — Franklin Borough—population 2,297—with approximately 90 per cent of its male residents striking employees of the Bethlehem Steel Co., has voted to appropriate $50,000 for relief of families of strikers.

The action, voted by the community's council last night, is the second such step taken by a Pennsylvania municipality within a week. The city of Clairton, many of whose 16,000 citizens are dependent on the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corp.

for their living, voted a $50,000 relief fund last week.

Income from Steel

Franklin borough president Andrew A. Dirsch said the source of the $50,000 had not yet been determined but the borough solicitor was instructed to study ways and means of raising the money.

Cambria county tax records show that approximately 95 per cent of the borough's income comes from property taxes paid by Bethlehem Steel.

At Philadelphia, meantime, the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania granted the CIO-United Steelworkers a special hearing next Monday on its appeal from an Allegheny county Common Pleas court ruling which limits pickets to 10 at a gate at Carnegie-Illinois' Homestead, Pa., plant.

In addition, another anti-picketing injunction suit was scheduled for a hearing in Pittsburgh today. Filed by the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. against the USW, the suit differed from the one before the state's high court. It challenges the legality of the 18-day-old nationwide steel strike.

CONGRESS GETS RESOLUTION TO REVOKE PENSION

Washington, Feb. 7 (AP)—Congress considered a resolution today that would formally take away the $10,000 a year pension rights of a federal jurist accused of selling jobs and justice for 15 years.

Judge Albert W. Johnson, 73, formerly of the Pennsylvania Middle District court voluntarily relinquished his full pay pension last July while under investigation by the House Judiciary committee.

The committee in its report yesterday said the ex-judge was a key figure in a "black market" in justice "of the most despicable, malicious and degrading sort" and sold justice "for all the traffic would bear."

The committee offered the pension resolution and Representative Kefauver (D-Tenn.), chairman of a subcommittee, said Congress should approve it to make waiver of the pension forever binding by law. The resolution would prohibit payment to Johnson "or his estate."

No Impeachment

Because Johnson is no longer a judge and is not receiving a pension the committee recommended against impeachment proceedings. It said no purpose would be served by impeachment "at this late date."

Both Johnson and Representative Walter (D-Pa.), member of the judiciary group, criticized the committee report as prejudicial to the forthcoming trial of the former judge and nine others at Scranton, Pa., on charges of conspiracy to obstruct justice. All pleaded innocent.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Feb. 7 (AP)—One reason why some major league baseball clubs are planning to increase admission prices is the cost of trying out the returning service men, who had been tossed helterskelter into the defense lists of the survivors when a lot of minor clubs folded up during the war. . . . Baseball law says they must be kept for 30 days of spring training or 15 days during the regular season unless the players themselves ask to be released. . . . Frank Shaughnessy, the international league boss, estimates that some of the big farm operators will spend $100,000 this spring and get very little return for it. . . . And that's in addition to the increased cost of regular operations. . . . And, Shag asks, "how about that Toledo club with 280 defense players?"

32 LOST FROM WRECKED LINER

Ketchikan, Alaska, Feb. 7 (AP)—Thirty-two persons were unaccounted for when rescue vessels brought to Seward the last known load of survivors from the wrecked liner Yukon last night, and today the crew and passenger lists were being checked and rechecked to learn the names of the missing.

All Seward watched the sea for signs of any straggling small craft which might come in with some or all of the 32.

The rescuers had found no bodies and had removed the last of the Yukon's crew and passengers from the grounded, broken vessel and from the nearby shore. When the mercy craft unloaded their last group of survivors at Seward and a count was made the Coast Guard said 465 had been carried to safety.

The passengers and crew, according to lists announced by the Alaska Steamship company and the Army, numbered 497.

NOW SHE SHOPS "CASH AND CARRY" Without Painful Backache

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's gives happy relief and will help the 16 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Urges Expansion Of Golfing Rules

San Antonio, Tex., Feb. 7 (AP)—The rules of golf should be expanded and simplified, said Fred Corcoran, boss of the PGA tour, in commenting today on the recent blast of the United States golf association.

Seward said it was not known as yet whether all the crewmen and passengers listed actually had been aboard when the Yukon sailed Sunday night from Seward, seven hours before she ran aground on the storm beaten rocks in Johnstone Bay. There have been reports from rescued passengers and crewmen that casualties had been seen, but none of these could be verified.

tion in the direction of the professionals.

Francis Quimet, chairman of the championship committee of the USGA, scored laxity he said had crept into wartime golf, warning that from this point on the rules of the game must be strictly adhered to in events sponsored by his organization.

"The rules as written do not cover everything that happens on a course and many of those in the book are difficult to interpret," said Corcoran, palpably nettled by the criticism of the USGA. He had these observations as he shepherded his PGA touring golfers into warm-up play for the Texas open.

BOIES PENROSE

Recollections of the 1920 Republican National Convention events leading up to the riding nomination.

Club, near Stuart and a few north of Palm Beach, was his site, and it was to this club that we repaired in the winter of 1920. This was an exclusive of only a dozen members, and, relating the Senator's condition, others very kindly and graciously turned over the house to him, to his corps of nurses, secretaries, and other employees. We resided in Florida until April when we returned to Philadelphia. All while Senator Penrose's health continued to decline. Upon arrival in Philadelphia he was taken to bed, and from then on his condition was such as to require care by his doctors and nurses. Under this strict regimen he was able to leave his bed for periods each day, and to attend matters requiring his attention.

It was the first time in his life and leadership that an opposing Republican National Convention, and his own campaign election, had found him physically unable to assume his commanding position. But though it may seem, the more widespread the news of his more powerful became his grace and prestige within the party's councils.

Look To Penrose
gaining a month or so before meeting of the Convention in June, and while confined to his bed in a more or less helpless condition, letters, telegrams, and calls began pouring in from national committeemen, delegates, others, all asking, "What does Penrose want?" In other words, what he wanted out of, and preparation, to the Convention with respect to a nominee. It was almost unbelievable to me that his mental and political sagacity were highly regarded by the party's leaders throughout the United States. He had, indeed, arrived as a national leader of his party, its most forceful and dominant member.

Harding Case Dormant
This sort of thing, coupled with the fact that the Senator was concerned, I Senator Knox never communicated with us after his Sunday visit, the meanwhile Penrose was conveying his strength in every way he had a view to attending the convention, and two weeks prior to its opening, had so far improved that began making definite plans for a trip. A special train had been chartered for our use to and from Chicago. General Atterbury, Vice-President of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, was giving this matter of transportation his personal attention. Marshall Field, the Chicago Merchant, had graciously offered his house and servants to the Senator and his party, believing that he would be more comfortable there in a hotel. At the last minute, however, the Senator was beset with most aggravating ailment, something entirely foreign to his major ailment, a bad heart. This unexpected development compelled cancellation of the trip, which soon became public property through the press and created the impression, generally, that Penrose was a very, very sick man; that he was either unconscious or irrational most of the time, and that his death could be expected at any time.

The fact is, that while the Senator required constant attention and suffered intensely, he was at all times rational and able to transact business with those about him. There was scarcely a time when he could not have seen and talked to his brother, the late Doctor Charles L. Penrose, that he see no one but his nurses and physicians.

Spends $800 A Day
With the convention trip off, the best thing was to establish communication with the convention in the speediest and most direct manner possible. To accomplish this the Western Union Telegraph and Bell Telephone Companies each installed private wire connections between Senator Penrose's Spruce Street home in Philadelphia and the Chicago Headquarters of the Pennsylvania Delegation. These two wires cost Penrose $800.00 per day, or a total of $4,800.00 for the six days during which the convention was in session. I manned the telephone at the Philadelphia end, and a veteran telegraph operator, assigned to us by the Western Union, took care of the telegraph wire. The Western Union operator and I, with our instruments, established ourselves in a room adjoining that of the Senator, and he had a phone at his bedside.

With the opening of the convention on June 8th my operator as a colleague and I were soon swamped

Auto Financing Probe Gets Results

Harrisburg, Feb. 7 (AP)—A legislative committee probing what Governor Martin described as "sharp practices" in auto financing claimed "positive results" in reduced rates after analyzing 4,522 auto purchase transactions to date.

State Sen. John M. Walker (R-Allegheny) told newsmen after a meeting of the group yesterday that committee members met with nine finance companies from Philadelphia, Chester, Hanover, St. Marys and Pittsburgh and will meet with six additional firms today.

Complaints had been lodged against some of these firms, but the others were called in to produce data, said Rep. Franklin H. Lichtenwalter (R-Lehigh) committee chairman.

Lichtenwalter said representatives of firms against which complaints had been lodged contended that the reason for high charges lies in competition in the payments of "packs" to dealers.

With phone calls and telegrams concerning the Senator's views on various aspects of the convention and his wishes with respect to a nominee. These I relayed to him as promptly as I could, and in turn transmitted his replies and instructions to Chicago.

At this point reference should be made to the Sproul candidacy. Certain friends of Governor Sproul, among them the late W. Harry Baker, Secretary of the Republican State Committee, and E. E. Beidleman, Sproul's Lieutenant-Governor, had, for a good while prior to the convention, been urging Sproul's candidacy and availability on Senator Penrose. The Senator, while politically friendly with Sproul, and recognizing his many admirable qualities, did not, however, consider him presidential timber. His favorite remark to me about Sproul was, "He won't stay hitched." In other words, that he wasn't dependable in a crisis. When some decision had to be reached in which he, Sproul, had the deciding voice or vote, he had acquired the reputation of throwing his support to the individual or group who had last seen him before he acted.

Frowned On Sproul
Senator Penrose gave the Sproul supporters no encouragement by agreeing that he play the favorite son role and perhaps the lightning might strike him. This was the situation when the Pennsylvania Delegation left for Chicago. The truth is, Penrose never entertained, even remotely, any thought of throwing his own support to Sproul for the nomination regardless of what might develop in Chicago to his advantage. What Penrose wanted was a set-up that would hold the Pennsylvania Delegation together, as nearly intact as possible, until the moment should arrive to throw it to the agreed upon nominee. This was the part he was willing to have Sproul play, and no more.

The two men who went to Chicago knowing what Senator Penrose really had in mind were Senator Grundy, referred to earlier in this story, and John T. King, Republican National Committeeman from Connecticut. Penrose became acquainted with King on the National Committee, and through Senator Brandegee, of Connecticut, a close friend, King was a scholarly, polished gentleman with good contacts, and an astute politician. He made a number one lieutenant in the political game. He liked it, and he liked Penrose, and the Senator lost no time in making use of his services. This relationship had been going on for a couple of years prior to the 1920 Convention. King was perfectly familiar with Penrose's political philosophy, with his wishes respecting the organization and work of the convention, and with the type of nominee he preferred.

Opposed Wood, Louden
Senator Penrose, for reasons set forth hereafter, did not favor either Wood or Louden, the two leading contenders for the nomination, nor did he, as stated, consider Sproul anything more than a stalking horse. Beyond this he would have been satisfied with most any qualified candidate, preferably, of course, Knox or Harding, of those mentioned.

Grundy and King went to the convention with the above understanding, while Baker and a small coterie were enthusiastically for Sproul. Baker, for years, had been a sort of glorified political messenger boy for Penrose. He had his limitations, but was a good detail man and useful for "leg work" carrying messages and corraling information. He had been at the State Capitol for years in various capacities, starting, I believe, as a page in the State Senate. With scarcely any formal education, he nevertheless, was quick witted, had a retentive memory and pleasing personality, and enjoyed a wide acquaintance with politicians throughout the state. When it came to policy making, however, he was seldom admitted to party councils. Senator Penrose followed the admonition of his predecessor, Quay, which was, "Don't write." The Senator seldom used the mails as leader of the organization unless the communication had to do with purely routine matters. Personal interviews, verbal messages, and the telephone were his media.

Posed As Mouthpiece
Because of Baker's association with Penrose in the capacity mentioned he gained the reputation of being one of his right-hand men. In Chicago he capitalized on this and posed as the Senator's mouthpiece in the latter's absence. As a matter of fact, he and his cohorts captured both of our private wires at the Chicago end and began bombarding us in Philadelphia to send instructions for Sproul. They, of course, had to do all their business through me, and when they could get nothing from me in behalf of their candidate they conceived the idea that I wasn't relaying their messages and conversations to Penrose, but was arbitrarily acting on my own account. The truth is, I kept the Senator fully advised with respect to their maneuverings for Sproul, and finally he had me tell Baker by telephone that while he was friendly to the Sproul candidacy, there were other considerations that outweighed his claims to the nomination, or words to that effect.

This so incensed Baker that he wired the late Robert von Moschizker, of the Philadelphia Judiciary, (soon to become a Justice of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court, and later its Chief Justice), to call at the Penrose home and find out the Senator's true physical condition, and whether I was running the Philadelphia end without his knowledge. Baker in his wire to von Moschizker said that he and his friends were convinced that Senator Penrose was not receiving correct information through me; that Sproul's chances were very bright, but underground work of certain persons at the Chicago end was muddying the waters in Philadelphia.

Visitors Are Banned
Judge von Moschizker was an old friend of the Penrose family, and one of my best friends, too, and when he called he immediately recognized the situation, and appreciated the trying position I was in. Doctor Herbert B. Carpenter, for years the Senator's physician, remained at the Penrose home throughout the week of the convention, night and day, and would permit him to see no one but me and the nurses. Judge von Moschizker, while he was not permitted to see Senator Penrose, was able, nevertheless, to satisfy himself that the Senator was closely in touch with the convention through me, and through his talks by telephone directly with King, McCormick, of Illinois, Brandegee, of Connecticut, and others. I listened in on these conversations and took them down in shorthand, and still have the notes in my file. They are quite lengthy and have to do with what was transpiring within the inner circles at the convention, particularly with respect to the organization and work of the Resolutions and Credentials Committees, the election of a permanent chairman, the southern delegate situation, the effect on the convention of Lodge's speech as permanent chairman, Watson's election as Chairman of the Resolutions Committee and his stand as Chairman of that committee on ratification of the Versailles Treaty, the status at the moment of the various candidates with special reference to the prospects of the Knox and Johnson combination, what had become of the Harding candidacy, what impression Sproul was making, and, of course, Penrose never was as previously stated, for Sproul's nomination, what the Pennsylvania and New York delegations were doing or might do if certain situations should arise, etc., etc.

Seize Private Wires
What would have been very amusing, had it not been so serious and expensive, was the fact that the very men who were in Chicago trying to carry out Senator Penrose's wishes, Grundy, King, Brandegee, McCormick, Watson, et al., were compelled, when desiring to telephone or telegraph us, to go outside the delegation's headquarters and use the regular public services. The Sproul outfit, as heretofore stated, appropriated our private wires, and no one else could use them with any degree of privacy. As the conversation advanced, and no candidate was able to muster the required number of votes for nomination, the dearth of real leadership, particularly that of the absent and sick Penrose, became more and more apparent. A desire to know what he would like to have done prevailed generally among the delegates, and so pronounced did this sentiment become that it was common talk in hotel lobbies, committee and conference rooms, and in the convention itself, that if Penrose could have appeared at the convention in person, in good health, he could then and there have named the nominee, or no doubt could have been nominated himself.

In further support of the Senator's popularity, I quote herewith a telegram sent to me by a Washington newspaperman after the convention adjourned on Friday, June 11th:

"The main feature of the convention this afternoon was a remarkable, spontaneous demonstration for Penrose when his name was called as a member of the Republican National Committee. The entire body of Delegates, as well as the audience, rose to cheer. The demonstration lasted several minutes, and was a whole-hearted tribute to the man, recognized by all, as the greatest leader in the Republican Party. It evidenced the devotion of the delegates, and the influence the Senator would have had with them had he been able to be present. In strange contrast to this ovation, not one other member of the National Committee, when his name was called, received more than a hand clap, and that only from his own delegation."

Embryo Candidates
At this stage in the proceedings, when it looked as though anything might happen, all sorts of embryo candidates began to sprout. One notable incident in this category, which Senator Penrose characterized as "downright silly," had to do with the late Samuel B. Vaulchain, President of the Baldwin Locomotive Works and a delegate to the convention.

Delegate Vaulchain, along with the other delegates, was becoming more and more impressed with the absent Penrose's power and influence and suddenly conceived the bright idea that he, Vaulchain, was presidential timber himself, and that all he needed to secure the nomination was the Senator's endorsement. Accordingly, catching a midnight train, he hurried to the Penrose home in Philadelphia to clinch the matter. Meeting him at the door bright and early Saturday morning he asked to see Penrose at once. When told that this was impossible he took me into his confidence, and it was all I could do to keep from laughing in his face at his presumptuousness. He pled with me to have Senator Penrose telephone Chicago in his behalf. Exercising all the tact I could I finally convinced him of the futility of his undertaking. I had scarcely disposed of the Vaulchain candidacy when the door bell rang and there was the brother of United States Senator Joseph I. France, of Maryland. The presidential bee had been troubling France for several years, and, like Brother Vaulchain, he thought his time had come. He was attending the convention and, discovering the power and influence of Penrose in absentia, he dispatched his brother to Philadelphia to have the Senator give him the green light. As with Vaulchain, France wasn't even among those mentioned, and Penrose was much amused when I acquainted him with the aspirations of these two patriots, and how I had disposed of them by the gentle art of deflation. There were similar visits to the Penrose home that week, but these two were the most notable.

YAMASHITA TO DIE SECRETLY AS CRIMINAL

By MURLIN SPENCER

Tokyo, Feb. 7 (AP)—Lt. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita, his last hope for clemency denied by General MacArthur, must die secretly like a common criminal on the gallows in Manila—the city his trapped soldiers raped, pillaged and burned.

MacArthur, as final reviewing authority, today upheld the death sentence imposed on Yamashita by a military commission in Manila, and ordered that his one-time adversary meet his doom "stripped of uniform, decorations and other appurtenances signifying membership in the military profession."

Lt. Gen. Wilhelm D. Styer, acting on MacArthur's orders, will carry out the execution secretly and then announce it. Newspapersmen and photographers will be barred.

First Top Jap Case

Styer, commander of army forces in the western Pacific with headquarters in Manila, said army-selected witnesses to the execution would not be permitted to talk for publication.

Yamashita, charged with condoning atrocities by troops under his command in the Philippines, is the first top-ranking Japanese officer whose conviction has been reviewed by the supreme Allied commander.

Fate of the calm, shaven-headed Japanese general was left in MacArthur's hands after the Philippines Supreme Court refused to transfer the case from military to civil jurisdiction, and the U. S. Supreme Court last Monday upheld the death sentence.

MacArthur, in final review of the case against the foe who ignominiously failed to prevent his triumphant return to the Philippines, delivered this scathing denunciation of Yamashita:

Record "Cruel and Wanton"

"It is not easy for me to pass judgment upon a defeated adversary in a major campaign. I have reviewed the proceedings in vain search for some mitigating circumstances on his behalf. I can find none.

"Rarely has so cruel and wanton a record been spread to the public gaze.

"This officer x x x has failed his duty to his troops, to his country, to his enemy and to mankind. He has failed utterly his soldier's faith. The transgressions x x x are a stain upon civilization and constitute a memory of shame and dishonor that can never be forgotten."

THE GETTYSBURG TIMES, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 7, 1946

News Of Special Interest To The Residents Of Emmitsburg And Vicinity

EMMITSBURG'S
FIRST ENGLISH
BRIDE ARRIVES

Mrs. Frank Dubel, one of the first English brides to arrive in the United States, has arrived at her new home in Emmitsburg, thrilled beyond measure at her new homeland but still much confused by the mysterious qualities of American money.

The former Miss Dorothy Wilcox, daughter of Frank Wilcox, Salisbury, England, married the then Pfc. Frank Dubel, September 25, 1943, when the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Dubel, DePaul street, Emmitsburg, was stationed in England.

They were separated when Pfc. Dubel went with the 29th Division into France, Belgium, Holland and Germany. The Emmitsburg soldier returned with his division to the United States to be discharged from the service after the war ended and Mrs. Dubel was seeking a way to the United States.

She had opportunity to join her husband when the first group of English brides came to the U. S. on the "Argentina," which docked in New York Sunday.

Mixup on Arrival
Dubel, learning that his wife was to arrive secured an apartment in the Elder apartments, South Seton avenue. He wrote her to come by train and went to Rocky Ridge, Maryland, to await the arrival of his wife.

In the meantime the English girl, somewhat unfamiliar with U. S. geography got off the train at Baltimore and started inquiring how to get to Emmitsburg. Told how to find a bus she went to the bus driver and held out all the U. S. money she had, telling him to take out what the fare was and give her back the rest as she had no idea how to translate English monetary figures into American money. The driver complied and brought her to Emmitsburg. There she sought out a taxi driver, who learning her identity, took her to Pfc. Dubel's parents' home.

The husband in the meantime continued to wait at Rocky Ridge. Finally when no bride appeared he returned sadly home—to find his wife had gotten there ahead of him.

COUPLE MARKS
ANNIVERSARY

The fiftieth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Mahlon Stonesifer was observed January 28 at their home on W. Main street. The couple received many cards of congratulations from their friends in this community where they have resided for 36 years on their farm near town on the Taneytown road. Gifts of money were presented by their children and a basket of flowers was placed in the Lutheran church Sunday in their honor by their daughter, Mrs. Ruth Copenhaver and granddaughter, Mrs. Anna Florence Wastler.

Mr. and Mrs. Stonesifer were married in the Union Bridge Lutheran parsonage, January 28, 1896, by the Rev. Mr. Patterson and are the parents of 10 children. There are 40 grandchildren and 13 great grandchildren. The children are Robert Stonesifer and Mrs. Marion Eyer, of Emmitsburg; Mrs. Allen Bollinger, near Harney; Mrs. Scott McNair, Keyville; Leonard and Roy, Chicago; Carroll, Westminster; Edgar, near Emmitsburg; Mrs. Ruth Copenhaver, near Emmitsburg; and Mrs. Charles Myers, Thurmont.

They were members of the Keyville Lutheran church in their early married life and members of the Emmitsburg Lutheran church for the last 36 years. The couple are retired from farming and are enjoying excellent health. A celebration is being planned later pending arrival of their sons from Chicago. Mr. Stonesifer is in his 80th year and Mrs. Stonesifer is 76. She was the former Miss Annie Fuss, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Fuss.

Missing Boys Are Sought By Police

Two 17-year-olds who reside near the Pennsylvania-Maryland line are listed by the state police as missing from their homes since Sunday night. Members of the families have asked police help in locating the pair.

The youths, William Sherb, Jr., Gettysburg road, and John "Jack" Favorite, Emmitsburg, are said to have been seen about 9 p. m. on Sunday evening when they walked away from their homes.

Sherb is described as weighing about 130 pounds with brown eyes and hair with a scar on his forehead. Favorite weighs about 118 pounds, is five feet two inches tall,

BUILDING FUND
AT MOUNT NEAR HALFWAY MARK

The building campaign of Mount St. Mary's college at Emmitsburg today neared the halfway mark with $300,855.15 already pledged for the drive.

The campaign is designed to raise $640,000 to be expended in improving the facilities of Mount St. Mary's college and to erect a number of new buildings including a new library building, science building and gymnasium.

Six divisions of the alumni association have already reached better than 100 per cent in contributions. The Central Pennsylvania alumni chapter, which includes the Gettysburg area, has pledged $33,851.15, or 113 per cent. Its quota was $30,000. The other chapters which have already filled their quotas are: Albany, 106 per cent; Maine, 120 per cent; Nebraska, 100 per cent; Rhode Island, 101 per cent; and faculty, 109 per cent. Largest single donation, from Jacob Rohrbach of the Western Maryland chapter, is $52,500.

Emphasis on Sciences
One of the top improvements planned for Mount Saint Mary's by the fund is a new science building, with the college experiencing a greater demand than ever before for its science studies. A four-year course in both biology and chemistry were introduced a number of years ago.

In the physics department new emphasis has been given to radio, heat engines and advanced physics. About 40 per cent of the entire student body is enrolled in the sciences. The pre-medical course at Mt. St. Mary's has always been one of its outstanding courses with all recommended graduates placed in the best medical schools in the country.

More laboratory space is essential, it was stated. The new science building, to be equipped with the latest equipment obtainable, will permit for the first time in the college's history, complete coordination of all science facilities, with easy access to the science library which at present is housed in three different areas.

According to present plans the new building will contain laboratory and lecture rooms for physics and biology, an equipment room, an office for the faculty and the science library on the first floor. The second floor will contain double laboratories for chemistry, a lecture room, balance room, stock room and office. The building itself will be placed facing the gymnasium and Echo field from the opposite side of the main road. The structure will be built of stone.

John Roddy, Jr., won prizes at a bridge party held Wednesday at the home of Miss Ann Eckenrode, Emmitsburg. Others attending the party were Mrs. Joseph Ash, Mrs. John Dillon, Mrs. Walter Opekum, Mrs. Harry Scott, Mrs. Adolph Wasilisky and Mrs. Dominic Greco.

NEW HS BUILDING TO BE COMPLETE
IN TWO MONTHS

The new high school being built at Emmitsburg by the Sisters of Charity of St. Joseph's college, will be completed within the next two months, it was revealed today.

An estimated 120 students will attend the school when it opens for the new school year in September. While no plans have been announced for dedication of the $200,000 brick structure it is expected that dedicatory exercises will be held in the late summer or fall.

Almost all of the structure is now under roof and within two weeks the roofing is to be completed. The auditorium section is already under roof and it is expected that the room will be heated within the next few days to allow carpenters and other construction workers to continue with their duties.

To Serve Wide Area
Started last August, the structure has risen rapidly under the direction of the Meagher construction company of Rochester, New York.

The school is expected to draw male and female students from Gettysburg, Thurmont, Taneytown, and other towns in the Emmitsburg section as well as from Emmitsburg itself. The high school replaces the St. Joseph's college high school which for many years was operated in connection with the college as a school for girls. Several years ago plans were laid to discontinue the high school at St. Joseph's and no girls were accepted in the lower

Receives Letter Of
Thanks From Greece

A letter of thanks was received by George Naylor, East Main street, from Greece, signed "Sophia" and written in Greek which was translated at Mt. St. Mary's college. The letter concerned the coat received by Sophia with Mr. Naylor's name and address in the pocket, put there by Mrs. Naylor when she donated the coat to the Greek clothing drive last year.

grades of the school. This year marks the last class in the establishment which was attended by hundreds of girls most of whom boarded at the college.

Named in honor of the late Rev. Fr. John P. Cribbins, C.M., who was spiritual director for the nuns at St. Joseph's college for 30 years, the school is being erected as a memorial to him.

The sisters will manage the new school and will form the faculty. The school will contain in addition to regular class rooms, a combined auditorium-gymnasium, a domestic science room, and a workshop instruction room.

PLAN DELAYED
CELEBRATION

Some members of St. Joseph's Catholic church in Emmitsburg are hoping there won't be a war in 1968.

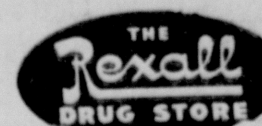

The church was planning to hold a celebration of its 150th anniversary in 1943, but the war forced postponement of any such program and the occasion was allowed to slip by almost unnoticed. Some members of the parish are thinking about suggesting a 155th year celebration in 1948, but are still not quite sure of the propriety of settling on that date.

Started in 1793 as a mission church, St. Joseph's was one of the first Catholic churches in this section of the United States. In 1808 Father Dubois, then busy establishing Mt. St. Mary's college, became pastor of the church and the secular priests at Mt. St. Mary's college continued to conduct the parish until 1850 when the community of missionary fathers took over the parish, and have continued since to supply its pastors.

Two of the pastors of the church, Father Dubois and Father Brute, both of whom served through the early years of the 19th century and who were the founders of Mount Saint Mary's later became bishops, Father Dubois in New York and Father Brute at Vincennes, Indiana.

The original church, a small wooden structure, was torn down in 1841 when the present structure was erected with the exception of the present tower and portico. The tower was added in 1867 by a pastor who was also an architect. The portico was added shortly after the turn of the twentieth century. The parish has 750 members.

DEAN HARRISON CONSIDERED FOR CAMPAIGN ROLE

By MARTIN BRACKBILL.

Harrisburg, Pa., Feb. 7 (AP)—The name of Earl G. Harrison, dean of the University of Pennsylvania law school, was being given "extra" consideration by Keystone state Democrats for the gubernatorial nomination as a score of party leaders gathered today for discussion of a 16 slate.

Harrison is one of five persons mentioned so far for governor on the Democratic ticket. The others are Judge Currie Bok, of Philadelphia, State Auditor General O. H. Wagner, Federal Judge Guy K. Ford, and Congressman Francis Alter, of Easton.

One prominent Democrat, who preferred to remain anonymous, said one of the party's top leaders have been reported "inclined" to arrive, adding "we don't want a man-of-the-mine candidate for governor."

To Study Messages
State Chairman J. Warren Mickle, who called the party conference, and a number of letters and telegrams endorsing specific candidates have been received at state headquarters and all will be studied by the conferees. He declined to say from the messages favored.

Mickle said in advance of the conference (1 p. m.) that it was doubtful if any agreement will be reached at candidates during the day although most of the discussion of primary plans would center on a possible slate.

The party several years ago abrogated its rule permitting the state committee to endorse a slate of candidates before the primary election. The state chairman, who returned last night from meetings of regional leaders in Pittsburgh and Oil City, reported "enthusiasm in counties where Democrats had been inactive in former election years."

Power Company Strike Postponed

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Feb. 7 (AP)—A strike of CIO utility workers employed by the Pennsylvania Power and Light company, scheduled to start Saturday, has been postponed at the request of Secretary of Labor Lewis Schwellenbach, but it "is not being called off," says Harold J. Straub, international vice president of the union.

Straub said presidents of 12 local unions, representing PPL employees in 28 counties, agreed to postpone until the National Labor Relations Board "has had the opportunity to act on our appeal" of decisions made by the regional board in Philadelphia.

Joseph M. Walsh, CIO regional director in Wilkes-Barre, commented following announcement last night of postponement of the walkout—the biggest job we are going to have on our hands now is to persuade our members on the PPL system to remain on the job during this interim period."

Queen Victoria's reign was by four years the longest and her life by three days the longest in British royal history.

Fabricators Need Price Rise Too

Washington, Feb. 7 (AP)—Spokesmen for 56 steel fabricators in Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia have told Reconversion Director Snyder they cannot "start running again with higher steel prices until we get some price relief from the government."

John P. Roche, assistant president of the Oliver Iron and Steel corporation, Pittsburgh, said Snyder yesterday told them "nothing specific," but that the delegation is now convinced he "understands our story, which we were not certain of before."

"We're alarmed by the general impression that a settlement of the dispute between the U. S. Steel corporation and the CIO-United Steel Workers would automatically mean a settlement for all companies," said Roche.

Chungking, Feb. 7 (AP)—China is consulting Russia on withdrawal of Soviet troops from Manchuria, Minister of Information K. C. Wu told newsmen Wednesday in reply to inconsistent question at a press conference.

The Fall Guy

BY JOE BARRY

Chapter 14

"When did Brin get here?"

"I don't know when, but he was here two days ago."

"Hope hit her underlip nervously. 'Does Jago know that?'

"I told him. Didn't he tell you?"

"I haven't been to the hotel since yesterday. After I woke up and saw you knocked out on the floor I got frightened. I got another hotel room and hid in it all day. I called you this morning and the girl told me you'd probably have breakfast in here about this time."

"Now you've found me, what do you want?"

"I really want protection now, if Brin's in town."

"Is he so dangerous?"

"Dangerous?" Hope shivered. "He's the most deadly man I ever met." Hope looked thoughtful. "Did Jago tell you about the emeralds?" she asked.

"No," Rush said.

"Where did you hear about them?"

"I got it from Brin. I think he thought I already had them or knew where they were at least."

"Jago will be furious."

"That will be too bad."

"Don't underestimate that man, either. He won't kill you himself. He'll have Wilmer do it, or hire somebody else, but you'll be just as dead."

"I haven't underestimated anybody yet, unless it was you," Hope poked surprised. "What about the emeralds? Where did they come from? Who did they belong to? Where does Paul Germaine come into it? Who killed him?" Rush shot her questions at her fast, watching her closely. There was nothing to see; she closed a curtain behind her eyes and looked through him. When she had finished, she smiled.

"You don't know as much as I thought you did. You were bluffing, all you know is that there are some emeralds."

"Isn't that enough?"

"Not quite."

"Tell me the rest of it."

"No, not now at least. There's something else I have to find out before I can tell you anything more."

"When will you know?"

"Maybe tonight. Where will you be?"

Rush grinned. "If you want protection you'd better know that. I'll be home early. I'm getting behind in my sleep."

"I'll be there around midnight. Will you leave your door unlocked?"

"They have given me a new room while they're cleaning up the old place. I'll leave word at the desk to let you come up. It's 13-A."

Hope had finished her breakfast and arose to stand beside the table.

"I'll leave my check for you. You can put it down as expenses." She turned on a spike heel and left the coffee shop.

Rush took the elevator to his office and found that Gertrude had beaten him to work. She was at her desk busily reading a detective magazine. She looked up as he entered.

"Ah, the poor man's Philo Vance," Rush gave her a modified Bronx cheer. "What has come over this office of late?" asked Gertrude. "You can't walk into the place any more but what you stumble over a client. You're going to have to take a partner to handle all the business."

"What gives now?" Rush asked.

In answer Gertrude stuck a thumb over her shoulder.

"In there," she said. "A gent craves your indulgence. He looks like dough."

"We don't need any," Rush said.

Gertrude said an unprintable word.

"Remind me to buy you some soap to wash out your mouth with," Rush said, and walked into his office.

Sitting in Rush's chair, calmly going through the desk, was the client. He looked up as Rush entered and smiled cordially.

"Good morning, Mr. Henry," he said.

"Good morning, Mr. Jago," Rush said. "What can I do for you?"

"It isn't," Jago said, "so much what you can do for me, as what I can do for you."

Rush admitted the possibility of that being the case with a gesture. Jago continued.

"I am in a position to make you a large sum of money," he paused. "Money to which no taint is attached, and with no risk involved."

"That is the kind of money that interests me the most," Rush said.

Jago nodded. "Of course."

"But," Rush said, "you are not going to just give me the money. There must be something I'm to do to earn it?"

"Maybe yes, maybe no. It's just possible, Mr. Henry, that you can earn that money by doing nothing."

Rush raised his eyebrows in polite surprise.

"Yes," Jago continued. "It was in regard to that unfortunate death of the Germaine boy. You intimated that you thought you would find that person in the group which surrounds me."

"In the long run, Mr. Henry, you will learn that it was impossible for Wilmer or me to have committed the murder. But in the meantime, your investigation will prove both embarrassing and costly to me."

"You propose in words of one syllable, to pay me blackmail?"

(To be continued)

East Berlin

East Berlin—Mrs. Jennie Henry was hostess to the Women's Work Organization of the Church of the Brethren, Tuesday evening at her home in this section.

Paul P. Lerew, who recently underwent an operation at the Warner hospital, is reported steadily improving at his home.

The local Boy Scout troop conducted a drive during the week to obtain clothing from townspeople for the relief of war-stricken countries.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Carroll Volland had among recent visitors their son, Robert, and Miss Margie Stahes, Harrisburg, and their relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Volland and daughter, Jean, Baltimore.

Mrs. Augustine J. Tierney has received word that her sister, Mrs. Charles P. Sullivan, who with her son, Terence B. Sullivan, a veteran of five years' army service, arrived from San Diego, Calif., in December, and has purchased a house in Brooklyn, N. Y., where the Sullivans will make their home. Terence Sullivan has accepted a position as a photographer with the Acme News Service there.

Mr. and Mrs. John Haar and family, R. 2, had among recent visitors J. Harry Haar, Dillsburg. Mrs. John Haar and children recently visited Mr. and Mrs. Luke Haar, Dillsburg.

Chester Hoffman, formerly of here, with his wife and daughter, Judy, New Oxford, plan to move here within a short time.

Mr. and Mrs. George L. Shetter have received word their son, Fred, who has been in the South Pacific for some time, will likely be discharged and return home within a short time. One of three brothers in service, he entered the army about three years ago.

Mrs. Harold Roland, R. 1, who was recently discharged from the Hanover hospital after a major operation, is spending some time with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph D. Myers, near town.

Richard O. Riggs is reported much improved after a recent illness which confined him to his home.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Baker have purchased the West King street property which Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Feizer purchased from the Hoechst estate two years ago and which had been the home of Mrs. Emma Wehler and the late Miss Nancy A. Weaver. The house has been tenanted by the Howard Chronister family.

George I. Laughman, Nathan Leppo, Allan Moul and Guy L. Straley comprise the 1946 building fund committee for Holtzschwamm church.

George Emig, Dover, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Emig and a former resident of this place, was recently installed as president of the York County Funeral Directors' association. His son, George, a student at Pennsylvania State college, has been admitted to the "Friars," an honorary men's organization there, for outstanding soccer performance this year.

Tokyo, Feb. 7 (AP)—The practice of requiring a customer to buy an article he doesn't want in order to get one he wants has hit Japan, says the Tokyo Shimbun, with this result:

A Japanese entered a drug store to get a bottle of vitamin pills for his undernourished wife—and emerged with (1) the vitamins, and (2) a bottle of "fat reducer."

SAYS LANDLORD TOOK ARTIFICIAL FOOT FROM VET

Philadelphia, Feb. 7 (AP)—Ignatius Miedzwiecki, 22-year-old former GI, hopes a Philadelphia magistrate can get his artificial foot back for him.

The youthful veteran says his former landlord, Joseph Galzarano, 51, seized all his furniture and the foot for non-payment of $28 in rent. Yesterday, Magistrate John P. Daly held the landlord in $800 bail for grand jury action on a charge of fraudulent conversion.

Miedzwiecki testified he was just getting used to the new foot—"it weighs only five pounds—four pounds less than this one I have"—when he and his 16-year-old wife, Doris, had to vacate their apartment in Galzarano's home in suburban Roxborough.

Lost Foot in Africa

"My funds were getting so low we couldn't buy food," he said. "The government cut my pension from $103 to $81 a month because of the job training and the artificial foot it gave me."

Miedzwiecki, who lost his left foot above the ankle in North Africa, said he owed $28 for four weeks rent and promised to pay it as soon as he could.

But when he went to pay Galzarano back, the ex-soldier told Daly, he said the landlord ordered him out and refused to return the artificial foot and other personal things left behind when he moved. Miedzwiecki said he learned later Galzarano had sold his furniture at a constable's sale.

Safford Admits Breaking Rule

Washington, Feb. 7 (AP)—Naval Capt. L. F. Safford testified Wed. he knew he was breaking naval regulations when he undertook a campaign to clear Rear Adm. Husband E. Kimmel of blame for the Pearl Harbor disaster.

Safford told the Senate-House committee investigating the Dec. 7, 1941, attack that he had believed he had to launch the campaign because he had at first felt bitter against the 1941 Pacific fleet commander.

"I had to do something to make amends," he said slowly.

Safford wrote in a secret-code letter to Captain A. D. Kramer, in January, 1944, that Kimmel and the 1941 Army commander at Pearl Harbor had "been framed." He asked that Kramer line up Adm. William F. Halsey in "the cause" of clearing Kimmel.

"This defense of Admiral Kimmel has puzzled me," Senator Lucas (D-Ill.) told the witness. "You knew you were doing something wrong, violating Navy regulations, did you not?"

Safford sat silent in the witness chair. His right hand pressed against his reddened face and he waited long before he answered: "Yes."

Sattle, Feb. 7 (AP)—The luckiest army passenger aboard the transport Hermitage which docked this week was T/4 Dale Sureth of York, Pa.

Because he was the 100,000th man to ship out of the port of Nagoya, Japan, Sureth was relieved of K.P. duty and all other details aboard ship.

Things Of The Soil

Late News of the Farm Front

Russet production during November and December was the lowest for those two months since 1920. This is one of the reasons, not the main reason, why supplies are scarce now. Faulty distribution following the end of rationing and continued heavy shipments abroad are reducing the domestic supply.

Farm land values stand near the 1919 level. On November 1 the national average was within one point of the same level occupied in March 1919 after the first World War. Farm real estate prices rose 11 per cent in the year previous to last November.

Estimates based on January 1 reports indicate commercial plantings of potatoes in the chief growing regions will be about 5 per cent below 1945 plantings in the same areas.

Canker stain, a fatal disease of planters (commonly called sycomore, although there is a distinction) can now be at least partly controlled by pruning out infected portions between December 1 and February 15. Pruners are warned to avoid using pruning implements on a healthy plant after pruning a diseased specimen.

War forced tanners to turn from imported Italian sumac leaves for tanning light leathers to leaves of American sumacs. Results were promising and now the hated invader of old pasture fields may at last take on economic value.

The 1945 crop of dry edible beans was the smallest since 1936. And although military requirements will be less in 1946, government shipments to war-torn areas will likely keep the domestic supply lower than at any time in the past ten or fifteen years.

Supplies of sugar for distribution during the first three months of 1946 are approximately one-third less than for the same months in 1945. Supplies in eastern states will be lower than in the middle west and far west where beet sugar is produced.

The 1945 rice crop established an all-time record, yet the government's purchases for relief needs in Europe and the Orient are expected to keep domestic supplies down to less than 6 pounds per capita—less than pre-war years.

The world's annual potato crop has a higher value than all gold produced in the same period. Asparagus plants may be male or female. The male plants produce a larger number of sprouts; female sprouts are higher in quality.

organization of bird lovers, is urging a careful appraisal of DDT to determine whether its general use will further imperil our reduced bird population.

Flax, cotton and hemp are the only important fiber crops grown in the temperate zone. Most of the coarser fibers are native to tropical regions. However, hemp growing is spreading rapidly in the United States, particularly in Kentucky, Indiana and a few other middle west states. Its adoption is perhaps retarded by the fact that it is the marijuana of the drug addict world. Due to this, growers must obtain permits from federal narcotic authorities before they can grow it.

There were only 8,897,000 horses on the farms of the United States on January 1, 1946, as compared with an all-time high of 21,431,000 in 1915.

Harrisburg, Feb. 7 (AP)—Dr. Charles E. Heald of West Grove was appointed by Governor Martin Tuesday as a trustee of Embreeville State hospital, succeeding George D. Baldwin of West Chester, who resigned. The appointment carries no compensation.

STRIKERS PLAN JITNEY SERVICE FOR LANCASTER

Lancaster, Feb. 7 (AP)—Striking Conestoga Transportation company workers made plans today to operate a fleet of "free jitneys" in face of a warning from the transit firm that it will "be forced to hire new employees" if the two-day old walkout continues.

The union no-fare volunteer service was disclosed as Lancaster's working population for the second straight day weighed chances of getting to jobs on time without benefit of public transportation.

A six-day strike also kept all city taxicabs off the streets.

The transportation walkout—third in six months for Lancaster—has tied up all buses and trolleys of the company serving 216,000 persons in its 94 square mile area. The company claims 60,000 daily riders.

Last September members of Local 1241, Amalgamated association of street, electric railway and motor coach employees (AFL) were off their jobs for 26 days in a strike. On December 9, the union took a 24-hour holiday.

Officials of the Conestoga company said last night that registered letters had been mailed 230 striking workers, declaring the firm recognizes their right to strike "in every respect."

The letter also said the company, as a public utility, cannot ignore its obligation and "will make every effort to continue operation."

Employees were advised "to report for work at your usual time immediately upon receipt of this letter."

"If you do not return to work x x x the company has no other alternative than to assume you have voluntarily quit its employment," the letter continued. "The company will then be forced x x x to hire new employees."

Use Own Automobiles

Previously, the company in a statement and paid advertisements urged "public-spirited persons" to volunteer for duty as operators of strikebound buses and trolleys.

A spokesman for the union Local countered with the free-ride plan to ease the transportation tieup. The men will use their own automobiles, he said.

The union has made 25 separate contract demands, including a pay boost of 20 cents an hour.

PIPELINE FIRE

Freeport, Pa., Feb. 7 (AP)—Thousands of gallons of gasoline were destroyed when a pipe line caught fire from unknown causes and burned for two hours yesterday on the C. A. Stewart farm two miles from this Armstrong county town. The fire started with an explosion and tossed flames 100 feet in the air.

FATAL ACCIDENT

Greensburg, Pa., Feb. 7 (AP)—Amos Shotts, 8, of Lincoln Heights, was struck and killed by an automobile while walking along the highway yesterday.

NO WONDER

San Francisco, Feb. 7 (AP)—The new San Francisco telephone directory lists 257 Wong numbers. The Wongs live in Chinatown.

Germans Steal 736 Trains Of Fine Art

Nuernberg, Germany, Feb. 7 (AP)—The Germans stole 736 freight train loads of art in western Europe, including paintings, rare books, sculpture and jewelry, the French prosecutor told the International Military Tribunal Wednesday.

Furthering the war crimes trial against 22 ranking Nazis, the French charged that the Germans contended that such seizures should be considered merely an indemnity for "sacrifices made in the struggle against Jewry."

Charles Gertoff, the prosecutor, said Germany established an art looting staff under Alfred Rosenberg, which frequently concentrated its entire attention upon collecting for Hermann Goering. He said the Germans required 21,436 freight cars to haul away the loot from western Europe.

Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel, Joachim voh Ribbentrop and Arthur Seyss-Inquart all were accused of primary responsibility for the pillage. All are in the prisoners' dock.

MODEST HERO

Erie, Pa., Feb. 7 (AP)—You'd never find out from former Lt. (j.g.) Joseph C. Cowden, sports writer for the Erie Dispatch-Herald, that he was a war hero. Even his boss didn't know about it until he read a dispatch yesterday that Cowden had been cited for "conspicuous gallantry in action" and awarded a Silver Star medal for work as a damage control officer on LST 447, in action off Iwo Jima.
